THE SKILLINGS CLAIM.
Doubts as to the Validity of the Ninety-Nine-Year Lease.
PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 5.—The Skillings claim, so-called, against the city of Portland, a new story about which has just been sent in from the West, is very similar to that of the heirs of Anneke Jans Bogardus against Trinity Parish in New York. It rests upon a piece of land in the heart of the city, now in part occupied by hotels and business blocks, and comprises a part of Monument square, where stands the famous "Bogardus" Monument. The lease was given on April 10, 1792, by "Samuel" Skillings to "John" Skillings, as appears of record; but some years before the giving of the lease—that is, in the year 1788—the title to a large piece of land which included the triangular piece within its bounds had been conveyed to the city of New York by other parties claiming to own the same. The legality of this conveyance was denied by Skillings and on May 8, 1797, in the courts of Cumberland, which had in that case been called upon to claim deed for the property from the mother country. The case followed the course of a claim deed of a portion of land in the city of Cumberland, and the title was given to the Skillings heirs to other parties for the sum of $100. The lease from Skillings to the city was never recognized as valid. In 1851, although a man of wealth and influence, Skillings obtained possession under his lease from the city. The ninety-nine years term in the lease expired April 10, 1891. In January last one of the Skillings' claimants came here from Boston, looking the matter up, and the city was notified by him and others of the heirs to be demanded of the city of Portland was $6,000. Nothing whatever has been done toward prosecuting the claim against the city.

ANOTHER CRUSADE.

The Women of Richmond Mo., Making War on Liquor Sellers.
RICHMOND, Mo., Aug. 5.—A man named C. S. Holt is here attempting to work up a crusade among the women against a number of places in the town where liquors are supposed to be sold illegally. So far nothing has been done, but a number of our women are greatly worked up, and there will doubtless be serious trouble before the end comes. Yesterday a few of the women visited a pool-room on Thornton and Lexington avenues, but only asked the proprietor, Mr. Lyons, whether he sold there. Being answered in the negative, they left. They then went to another place, where they found a number of women and many girls appeared before the Court, which happened to be in session, and requested that he grant no more licenses for pool rooms and to revoke those in existence, claiming that they were not allowed to play on the tables, and gambling was permitted by boys. The presiding judge gave them no satisfaction, but rather intimated that he would call on them when he needed their advice. They then went to the church for further deliberation. It has not transpired what the next move will be.

JUDGE SEAT'S WRIT.

Seizure of Cattle on the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Reservations Ordered.
KINGSMAN, O. T., Aug. 5.—Hon. A. J. Seay, Associate Justice of the Territorial Supreme Court, ordered seized all the cattle on the Cheyenne and Arapahoe reservations owned by the Indians. The men affected are the large cattlemen of the district. The writ was the result of a suit brought against them and which resulted in the court's decision that they were liable to a penalty of $100 per head and the seizure of their stock. The Marshal is ordered to hold the stock until disposed of by law and to command the owners to appear before the session of the court to be held at Kingsman, Oct. 20. Two hundred thousand head of cattle are involved, and a big legal battle will ensue.

CHICAGO'S CRISIS.

The City's Water Fund Is Exhausted—In a Bad Fix.
CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 5.—The city water fund is exhausted and a crisis is threatened. Vouchers presented by the contractors on the great tunnel have not been paid and the contractors threaten to stop the work on the conduit that is to supply the thousands of Chicagoans with water. The leading officials are away and several of the minor authorities held a conference to-day to find a way out of the difficulty. It was proposed to borrow from the general fund, but no authority could be found and a State law prohibits it. The City Treasurer returns to-day and he may furnish money at his own risk, otherwise the situation will remain unchanged until November.

BY FIFTY-SEVEN MINUTES.

The White Star Line Steamer Majestic Beats the Record.
New York, Aug. 5.—The White Star Line steamer Majestic, which left Liverpool July 29, arrived here this morning, thus breaking the record from Queenstown to New York. Her time was five days, eighteen hours and eight minutes. The Majestic beat the record of the City of New York, which made the trip in six days, five hours and thirty minutes. The Majestic was commanded by Captain G. J. Moore and carried 1,200 passengers. She was the fastest of the White Star Line fleet.

TOOK TO HIS BED.

Ex-Congressman Wm. L. Scott Seriously Ill at 74.
Erie, Pa., Aug. 5.—Ex-Congressman William L. Scott is seriously ill at his home in Erie, Pa. Dr. Brandes, his physician, is very reticent. Mr. Scott is suffering from his old stomach trouble, a recurrence of that after trouble which last summer nearly proved fatal. Two weeks ago on the recommendation of the physician he went to the Cambridge Mineral Springs, but the water, instead of benefiting him, aggravated his sickness, and he returned home to take to his bed, from which he has scarcely arisen since. The members of the family are all here.

THE SPORTS' CORNER.

"Cub" Stricker Playing Great Ball in His Old Age.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE SECOND BASE-MEN OF THE COUNTRY.

Opinion the Cleveland Spiders Have of the Pittsburgh Pirates—Comiskey's Men Give the Bostons Their First Shut-Out—Smooth Dave Pulsifer—Don Defeated by Diablo—Sporting News.

The work of "Cub" Stricker at second base for the Boston team during the past series in this city has opened the eyes of many of the cranks to the fact that Stricker is putting up one of the finest fielding games at second base on the diamond this year. Stricker has been playing ball for fifteen years, and was at one time connected with the old St. Louis Browns, which included among its members Deasley, McGinnis, Comiskey, the Gleason brothers, Tom Dolan, Fred Lewis and Hugh Nicol. Stricker and Comiskey are about the only members of the team left who are playing ball in the League or Association. Stricker after leaving St. Louis went to the Athletics and was there a number of years; then he disappeared entirely for some time, until Frutberg deserted the Association and a team was organized at Cleveland. Stricker again appeared and was made captain of the aggregation. He was with the Cleveland team in that capacity until the Brotherhood was organized, when he joined that organization. He was the first player to secure by the team money in Boston when it was determined to put an opposition team in that city. Stricker has been playing the fielding game of his life this season, and has also been batting hard. Second base is one of the most difficult positions on a club, and good second basemen are scarce. Such men as "Denny" Richardson of New York, "Hub" Collins of Brooklyn, "Fred" Pfeffer of Chicago, McPhee of Cincinnati, Eberhauer of Pittsburgh and Joe Quinn of the Boston League team have been playing the bag for years and are considered the cream of the profession. It would be hard to pick out the best of the above list. When Hardie Richardson covered second for Detroit he was considered one of the kings of the position. Yet did not care to play second, however, the outfield being more to his liking. Fred Dunlap, who started out with Washington this season, but broke his leg last May, was the king pin of them all at one time but was such a disorganizer that his value was diminished considerably. Robinson used to put up a fair fielding game for the Browns, but was unreliable in many ways. Eagan, who is now looking after the bag, is playing well. Childs, a new man who covered it for Cleveland, is playing splendidly, and if he keeps up his present record will rank up among the stars. Stricker, though, as stated above, is playing the star game of his life at the bat this season, which is phenomenal, considering the man's age. His base-running and general batting are good, and anybody who keeps a close watch on the game.

WHAT THE "SPIDERS" SAY OF THE "PIRATES."
"Things are different to what they used to be," said one of the Cleveland players to a Pittsburgh Press man. "Down South in the spring the Pittsburgh players were very careful about being seen on the streets in daylight with us, as they were all players, and, well, we were dubs. They paraded around the streets with their chests thrown out, and talked about young blood experiments, old stiffs and such like. The people about the home leagues thought they were something, and that they could not spend money fast enough up North. Well, we beat them in a majority of games we played down there, but they made light about that, claiming their pitchers did not want to let themselves out and get disabled before the championship season opened. The other players were not taking any chance of being injured either."

"They just were a cheap lot and they had just come down to practice with us. Well, as I said before, things are different now and I would rather play ball in Cleveland than in Pittsburgh. We are not all dubs, and we are playing a pretty good article of ball and that's what counts. I don't think they are any better than we are, but they are not as good as we are. I notice that several of your titled aristocrats have walked the plank since then; your club is in last place, and the people don't seem to care much whether the club is at home or abroad. Your players are not so distant when they meet us on the streets here in Pittsburgh, though they do talk of our phenomenal luck. Never you mind what it is, we are playing winning ball and are sure to finish the season ahead of your aristocrats."

THE TURF.

With the possibilities of a big race in view Pulsifer was seen by the Brighton officials and told of Dwyer's willingness to run Longstreet for a series between the Association and League teams. Each club numbers in prize money and the race is expected to be a local favorite on account of the presence on it of Richardson, Brothers, Farrell, Duffy Brown, Murphy, Dunton and O'Brien, all of whom are well known to the public, or in the immediate vicinity of Boston.
